

CALCASA Campus Program

September 2009

Working with Underserved Communities

Patricia (Trish) Duffett is a counselor-advocate specializing in sexual violence and domestic violence at the New York City Anti-Violence Project. Trish is scheduled to graduate in January 2010 from the MSW program at the Hunter College School of Social Work. Trish's main professional interests include anti-oppression social work practice, healing from trauma, and working with trans and gender non-conforming folks.

Resources & References

University of Oregon study (see attached) or

“Little Safe Haven for LGBT Survivors of Sexual Assault”,

<http://uonews.uoregon.edu/node/492>

National Coalition of Anti-Violence Programs, www.ncavp.org