

Practice – Binary Example

Categorizing qualitative responses into binary outcomes

Appropriate = 1

Inappropriate = 0

	When is it okay to have sex with someone who is drunk? (ie- incapacitated)	Appropriate / Inappropriate	Code
1	Never.
2	If you are married.
3	If you've done it before with the same partner
4	There are no circumstances when this is okay
5	You shouldn't be drinking underage

With a partner or on your own:

Appropriate = 1

Inappropriate = 0

PRE- Test

	When is it okay to have sex with someone who is drunk? (ie- incapacitated)	Appropriate / Inappropriate	Code
1	Umm none
2	If they are somewhere safe
3	I don't think it is ever okay
4	No, because that's taking advantage of them
5	Sex is only for marriage
6	When you use protection
7	I don't know
8	If they can still make decisions
9	Never?
10	It's not okay because you might get an STD

Add up the total: _____

Since there are 10 items, multiply time 10 to convert to percentage: _____

(ie- if the total was 7, then $7 \times 10 = 70\%$)

Appropriate = 1

Inappropriate = 0

POST- Test

	When is it okay to have sex with someone who is drunk? (ie-incapacitated)	Appropriate / Inappropriate	Code
1	Never
2	Not okay ever
3	None, because you're not sure if they want to
4	You can't no matter what
5	It's never okay
6	I still think that if you talk about it before it's ok
7	No because it's illegal
8	No because you might not know the person
9	Never!!!
10	None

Add up the total: _____

Since there are 10 items, multiply time 10 to convert to percentage: _____

(ie- if the total was 7, then $7 \times 10 = 70\%$)

What is your "rule"? What is required for a "good" answer?

Practice – Multi-Option Bystander Example

Categorizing qualitative responses into a multi-option coding system

	STAGE OF CHANGE	DEFINITION*
1	Pre-Contemplation	Person does not notice a problem
2	Contemplation	Person aware of a problem, but does not want to take action
3	Preparation	Person would like to take action but does not have a plan or ability to act
4	Action	Person has a clear plan and feels confident to address the problem
5	Maintenance	Person offers that this sort of action is something they routinely do

Imagine the following situation where Ana, Julia, and Manny are your friends:

Ana says, “Esteban hasn’t kissed you yet, Julia? You’re his girlfriend! I told you he was gay.”

Ana and Manny laugh. Julia does not laugh.

Question 1: How do you feel about this situation?

Question 2: What would you do if you were there when this happened?

	Responses	Stage	Notes (optional)
1	I feel like this sort of thing happens all the time – it’s not okay ; I’m not sure. I would want to say something but I’m afraid I might make Julia feel worse.
2	Julia should probably be worried that he’s gay, although it depends how long they’ve been together ; I don’t know – probably ask more questions to help Julia find out what’s going on.
3	I don’t know how I feel about the comment, but I would be worried that Julia wasn’t laughing ; I would definitely talk to Julia after to see if she’s okay.
4	I hate it when people assume that someone is gay just because they’re waiting to have sex or kiss or something like that ; I would tell Ana that’s not cool.
5	Ana probably shouldn’t be talking like that ; Even though it’s not nice what she said, I would stay out of it – when you start getting involved in your friend’s business it gets you into trouble.
